INTERDISCIPLINARY APPROACH TO INNOVATIVE PROGRAMS

The staff of Youth Aliyah is comprised of educators, counselors, social workers, psychologists, anthropologists and administrators.

There is a clear advantage in this context when approaching the issue of developing innovative programs for the children and youth in residential and day care. On the other hand, team work requires careful planning and skill, in order to achieve success.

Over the years, YA has developed working models of steering and field teams, with the aim of bringing about changes in the educational and other professional frameworks. Some of these models include interdisciplinary teams, which develop diverse approaches and working methods to the tasks at hand. Workshop discussion will focus on these models, in connection with decision making processes and practical implementation.

Das Personal der Youth Aliyah besteht aus Erziehern, Beratern, Sozialarbeitern, Psychologen, Anthropologen und Verwaltungsbeamten. Die Zusammenarbeit zwischen diesen verschiedenen Berufen muß sorgfältig geplant werden um positive Resultate zu erzielen. Während dieser Konferenz werden einige Modelle interdisziplinären Arbeitens vorgestellt und diskutiert.

Le personnel de la Youth Aliyah est composé d'éducateurs, de conseillers, de travailleurs sociaux, de psychologues, d'anthropologues et d'administrateurs. La coopération entre ces différentes professions doit être planifiée minutieusement afin d'éviter des échecs sur le plan professionnel. Lors de cette conférence, des modèles de travail interdisciplinaire seront présentés et discutés.
